CHARGED WITH STEALING INFANT. Mrs. Jean Iavarone, 43-year-old grandmother and mother of eight children, is the picture of dejection after being charged with kidnapping of an infant, Lisa Rose Chionchio. Mother of 8 Held

Kidnaping Count Filed in Baby Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Jean Iavarone, widowed mother of eight, goes to court today to face a kidnapping charge. She is accused of abducting a newborn baby to misrepresent it as her own in a marriage trap.

The 43-year-old blonde was booked Monday on a charge of taking Lisa Rose Chionchio from St. Peter's Hospital Jan. 2 when the infant was 2½ hours old.

Her bail hearing in Brooklyn Felony Court was put off until today. Conviction on the charge carries a possible prison sentence of 20 years to life.

The motive for the kidnaping, police said, was Mrs. Iavarone's desire to pressure a boy friend, Joseph Pizzimenti, into marriage by having him believe he was the father.

The intense search for the child ended Sunday night. Police and FBI agents, directed by a telephone tip, found the baby in Mrs. Iavarone's clean but untidy apartment in a humble section of Brooklyn.

Castro Men Slay Batista Supporters

Rebel Chiefs Continue To Exact Vengeance In Cuban Blood Bath

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The execution toll is mounting as Fidel Castro's military courts continue to exact vengeance for violence attributed to supporters of fallen Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

At least 145 persons had been reported executed between Batista's flight on Jan. 1 and Monday night. More speedy trials were under way, including hearings for possibly 100 prisoners in Oriente province.

Takes Big Jump

The toll took a big jump Monday when revolutionary firing squads reportedly shot 75 persons near Santiago, capital of Oriente, where Castro's rebellion was centered and anti-rebel repression was strongest.

Officials of the provisional government claimed all cases were being fully investigated, but otherwise there was no information on the trials of the condemned men. Apparently, most were being held in secret, and by military courts rather than by the revolutionary courts the new regime has said would be established to try "war crimes" offenders.

Two Get Ten Years

Not all the defendants got the death penalty. Two policemen in Manzanillo were sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Approximately 3,000 persons are being held throughout Cuba. In Oriente there are about 500, according to Fidel's brother, Raul, who has been in military command in that area since Fidel's victory.

The weekly news magazine Bohemia charged that 20,000 Cubans had been killed between Batista's coming to power in 1932 and Jan. 1.

The 75 men executed in Oriente were shot in two groups, one of 14 and the other of 61, witnesses said. The executions took place at a military camp one mile from Santiago and one mile from San Juan Hill, where Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders charged the Spaniards in 1898.

Santiago military headquarters declined to confirm the executions. A reporter found a huge mound of fresh dirt, cartridge cases and tire tracks at the scene.

Dulles Assails Red Proposal For Germany

Brutal, Stupid, Filled With Peril to Europe, Secretary Maintains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today Russian proposals for the future of Germany are brutal and stupid and fraught with danger for the peace of Europe.

Dulles told a news conference the United States and its Allies stand firm on their basic policy of tying a reunited Germany into the Western World.

But he also said, possibly for the first time, that German unification might be accomplished by ways other than through free elections.

Dulles left no doubt he expects to take a very firm line on the German policy issue when talking with Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan here Friday. After the talk with Dulles, Mikoyan will see President Eisenhower on Saturday.

Dulles said he hopes the talks with Mikoyan may eliminate the dangers of miscalculations and accidental mistakes between the Soviet and U.S. governments but he said the United States is not negotiating with Mikoyan.

Green Camp Opposed

School Plan Gets Another 'No' Vote

By ALLAN BOVEY

Based on their objections to three specifications, the Green Camp Board of Education, meeting Monday night with the Marion County Board, rejected the one-district school consolidation plan advocated for the county by the Ohio State University Bureau of Educational Research.

The bureau, besides recommending the combining of the 10 existing districts into one large one, called for a system of three high schools, seventh-eighth grade centers at Claridon, LaRue and Pleasant, and elementary programs (kindergarten through the sixth grade) at each of the schools centers now in use.

Green Camp thus became the second local school district to turn thumbs down on the one-district proposal, cited as a practical re-orientation for Marion County following an extensive survey undertaken by the OSU bureau at the request of a majority of the local schools and the county board.

LaRue's board rejected the plan two weeks ago, with a potential transportation problem their primary reason for doing so. Pleasant, however, accepted the plan and went on record as favoring adoption of it in every detail. The Green Camp board looked

Contract Gives Pay Hikes of 10 Cents

Now, 8 in 1960

The huge job of returning the Marion Power Shovel Co.'s W. Center St. plant to production began today after Union members voted Monday to end a 17-week strike against the company. Some 200 plant workers were scheduled to return to their duties by noon.

With the union pickets gone from the plant gates for the first time in 127 days, a few powerhouse and pipefitter employees reported for work almost immediately after members of Local 1949, United Steel Workers, voted late Monday afternoon to accept a new contract negotiated by company and union bargaining teams.

At 10 a.m. today, a group of about 40 key plant workers met with company officials in a familiarization program to learn of various changes made by the company to improve plant efficiency.

Company officials said today that major changes instituted in the plant during the strike pertain to a new tool control program, a new welding rod control program and a new parts shipping system. These changes were accomplished mostly by reorganization with little or no capital outlay for capital improvements, they said.

Union members voted 562-89 to ratify a new two-year contract calling for an immediate wage increase, another one in 1960, a seventh paid holiday, an improved insurance program beginning next January and elimination of machine bidding and bumping.

The immediate wage increase is 10 cents above the wages in effect in April 1958 when the old contract expired.

An additional 8-cent boost will be effective Jan. 10, 1960.

Paid Lunch Time Eliminated

Concession made to management, in addition to elimination of machine bidding and bumping, included elimination of the 20-minute paid lunch period for employees not on continuous operations.

The contract calls for major improvements in management's ability to assign and schedule work, including overtime, and extension of the existing pension agreement so that it will expire at the same time as the new contract which runs until Jan. 29, 1961.

Company officials said plans are being made to recall workers as rapidly as possible and that the initial recall will be completed within a week or 10 days. They said that some time will be required to complete subsequent recall of other workers and asked that employees wait to be contacted by their superiors or the employment department.

20-Cent Package

In explaining the new contract proposal to some 1,000 union members gathered in the Local 1949 union hall on Uncapher Ave. from 2 to 5:15 p.m. Monday, union officials said that machine bidding and bumping has been eliminated in favor of job classification and occupational group seniority provisions. They said the union will retain some bidding and bumping rights but it will not be on an excessive basis.

John S. Johns, district director for the U.S.W., reported that the new economic package including the two wage increases, the improved insurance and the additional holiday totaled some 20 cents.

Inaugural Festivities Over

New Governor of Ohio Takes Up State's Duties

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If you callers at his Statehouse office, awake today to find yourself Governor of Ohio, would you be happy, or would you be afraid?

Michael V. DiSalle, a Toledo Democrat, awoke this morning as the governor's mansion in suburban Bexley.

He was governor. He could have been happy. He was, in a way. He could have been frightened. And he was, in a way.

He was the top man among nearly 9½ million Ohioans. It's a position many seek, but few really relish.

DiSalle knew the oceans of flow in his new office were beginning to swirl, that the over-hearty greetings of Monday will not be forthcoming today.

Obscenity Big Business, Keating Tells 2 Groups

Obscene literature is a billion-dollar-a-year business and it's up to an awakened community to start the ball rolling in any effort to deal it a death blow.

In words to that effect Monday, Cincinnati attorney Charles H. Keating laid the problem of published smut in the laps of Marionites interested in cleaning up the newsstands.

HE SPOKE TO some 150 Lions Club members and guests at the club's noon meeting in Hotel Harding and again last night to about 200 persons at a public meeting in the UAW-CIO Hall on Leader St.

His appearance here was requested by a local citizens group, headed by Dr. Daniel Murphy and formed nearly a year ago to combat indecent literature in Marion. Mr. Keating, chairman of Ohio Citizens for Decent Literature, urged his audiences in both talks to get behind local law enforcement officials in an effort to stamp out obscenity.

"Express yourselves to these people who represent you," he said. "Tell them you'll support them in combating this problem."

AN AWAKENED citizenry is the first step in fighting indecent literature, he said. The second step is an effective job of law enforcement.

"Find out about this depravity because it is only through an awakened public that we can kill this thing, and kill it we certainly must."

The 35-year-old attorney, father of five children, said the type of literature now available to youngsters could "pervert an entire generation."

"It isn't just the pictures in these magazines—pictures are the least harmful. It's the written contents that are particularly devastating. You can't feed this swill to children without affecting them by it."

AT BOTH appearances he displayed several magazines, some available in Marion, which he said were pornographic to some degree.

How do you define obscenity? He cited this definition which he said was rendered by the U.S. Supreme Court:

"If the dominant theme of the material, taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient (lustful) interests and it falls below the level of morality in the community, then it is obscene."

In Cincinnati, he said, eight cases have been tried and eight straight convictions have been won. There have been no losses in trial courts or appellate courts.

He told his audiences that the basis for judging obscene material was to ask: "Are these magazines below your level of morality? If they are, they're obscene and it can be against the law to sell them."

MR. KEATING said the Ohio C.D.L. has been faced with arguments from dealers and distributors that the "decent" literature movement is an attempt to abridge constitutional freedoms.

Council Meets, Then Recesses

Will Convene Tonight To Study Legislation

Marion City Council met just long enough Monday night to approve the minutes of its Dec. 22 meeting and vote to recess the meeting until 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Some of the members were in Columbus to attend the governor's inauguration.

At the recessed meeting tonight the annual appropriations ordinance will be considered and a public hearing will be held on proposed zoning changes affecting property in the vicinity of the McMillen Feed Mills and at the southwest corner of Silver and Edwards streets.

Among other legislation will be an ordinance granting a pay raise to the city hall janitor, some resolutions approving planning commission actions, some other resolutions approving appointments to various city boards and directing the city engineer to prepare plans for an improvement project on Patterson St.

Attending the meeting last night were John Robbins (D-1st); John Williams (D-2nd); Lowell Doyle (R-3rd); Ralph Williams (R-4th); Emmett Osterholt (R-6th); and Harold Smith (D-at large). Richard Lister (R-at large), appeared after the vote to recess had been taken. He held a brief sewer committee meeting during which there was some discussion of the Silver St. trunk sewer project and the proposed Adams St. sanitary trunk sewer.

Mann, Kelley To Run

More Candidates Here Enter Races for Council

The race for City Council seats drew two more aspirants today, creating prospects for a seventh contest in the May 5 primary.

Taking out papers this morning were Clovis A. Mann, 48, of 894 Adams St. and Gene R. Kelley, 32, of 697 N. Main St. Mr. Mann seeks Democratic nomination as First Ward councilman and Mr. Kelley is after the Republican nomination as Second Ward councilman.

Mr. Mann is the second to take out papers for Democratic nomination in the First Ward; John E. Robbins, incumbent, announced his candidacy for renomination to the post last week.

An unsuccessful candidate for nomination to the First Ward post in the May 1957 primary, Mr. Mann is employed as a truck driver for Commercial Motor Freight. He is a native of Marion and a member of the Teamsters Union Local 40. He is married and has five children.

Mr. Kelley, a loan teller at the main office of the National City Bank of Marion, is making his first bid for public office. He has been active in United Appeals for the last five years; has been treasurer of the Polio Foundation for four years and is treasurer of the St. Mary PTA.

A native of Leipsic, O., he has been a Marion resident since April 1947. He is a past financial secretary of the Knights of Columbus and is a member of St. Mary

Fire Damages Lord Hall on OSU Campus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fire swept through Lord Hall on the Ohio State University campus today, causing "considerable" damage.

The three-alarm blaze was brought under control shortly before 8 a.m., about two hours after the first alarm was turned in by a janitor who discovered the flames.

University officials were unable to make an immediate estimate of loss. The walls of the structure were still standing but the interior was partially gutted.

Lord Hall, a three-story brick building, is in the northern section of the campus and houses the mining, mineralogy, and ceramic departments.

Bucyrus Picks New Head for School Board

Sharrock Gets Post;
1959 Appropriation
Bill Given Approval

BUCYRUS — Clare A. Sharrock was elected president of the city school board here Monday night, succeeding A. George Stoltz. Mr. Sharrock is a New York Central Railroad conductor. Fred C. Ward, executive vice president of the Swan Rubber Co., was elected vice president. Walter R. (Mike) Michael, a vice president of the Ohio Locomotive Crane Co., was sworn in as a board member. He fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Ward Pontius who is moving to Colorado Springs, Colo.

The board also passed the 1959 appropriation ordinance with expenditures totaling $738,487, an increase of about $52,000 over 1958. The allocation for teachers was raised $40,000 from $384,000 to $424,000 to provide for pay raises recently granted by the board. Supt. I. J. Miller said the increased teacher allocation also includes funds for the hiring of additional teachers next fall if they are needed.

The board voted unanimously to join the Ohio School Boards Association and also approved a pay scale of $12 a day for substitute janitors. Supt. Miller said it was virtually impossible to obtain qualified help for the present rate of $8 daily.

Also approved by the board were the amounts and rates as determined by the Crawford County Budget Commission. The board expects to receive $115,121 for bond retirement and $487,570 from the general fund.

Church To Hold Special Service

At a special midweek service of Emmanuel Baptist Church Wednesday night a missionary speaker, the Rev. Timothy Pietsch, will tell of his work in Japan. He is the son of the Rev. W. E. Pietsch of Waterloo, Ia., radio preacher and evangelist, who has held services here a number of times previously.

A graduate of Wheaton College in Illinois, he has written a number of tracts and booklets which have been distributed widely in the field where he has carried on many evangelistic street meetings. Assisting him are his wife and four children who appear with him and sing Christian hymns in the Japanese language followed by distribution of Gospel tracts. A weekly radio broadcast made by the family has been carried by four radio stations.

Mrs. Pietsch, also a Wheaton College graduate, has taught a kindergarten of more than 100 children and several additional classes each week. The local church has contributed monthly during a number of years to the support of the family through the Tokyo Bible Center. The service here will be conducted in the educational building of the church at 7:30 and will be open to the public, the pastor, the Rev. C. E. Hershey, announced.

UAW Studies New Proposal From International Harvester

CHICAGO (AP)—Negotiators for the striking United Auto Workers today studied a new contract proposal offered by International Harvester Co. in a bid to end a two-month walkout.

The new package proposal was submitted by the company Monday. Many of the provisions were recommendations of private mediator David L. Cole, who has been meeting with union and company bargaining teams.

A union spokesman declined to comment on the new proposal other than to say there still were several items to be worked out.

Some 37,000 UAW workers have been on strike since Nov. 13 at 15 Harvester plants, seven parts depots and three transfer points.

Negotiators previously agreed upon an annual pay increase of 6 cents an hour or 2 1/2 per cent, whichever is greater. They also have agreed the contract should run three years. Wages under the old contract averaged $2.55 an hour.

A company spokesman said Harvester's latest package offered to give four weeks vacation a year to workers with 25 years of service. This was one of the major UAW demands.

Harvester stands firm on demands it be given the authority to shut down its plants while all employees are on vacation and insists on keeping night pay differential at the levels existing under the old contract, the spokesman said.

Building Activity in Bucyrus Up Nearly 300% During 1958

BUCYRUS — Building activity during 1958 in Bucyrus showed almost a 300 per cent increase over 1957 totals, according to figures released today by the city service department.

During 1958, a total of 118 permits was issued for construction with a total reported value of $1,964,815 while the 1957 total was only $738,487.

The 1958 figure total was the second highest valuation total in a decade, being exceeded only by the 1956 total of $3,055,283. The 1958 total included permits totaling $1,500,000 for new school buildings and additions.

Almost one-third of the total valuation of the 1958 permits was issued in December with the largest permit being one for $444,466 for the construction of a warehouse by the General Electric Co.

The December total also included two service stations, costing $15,000 each and five residences costing an aggregate total of $96,000.

Births Surpass Deaths In Wyandot During '58

UPPER SANDUSKY — Mrs. Charles Walters, registrar of vital statistics for Wyandot County, reported Tuesday that births were up and deaths down in this county last year.

Her report for the month of December shows 35 births, including 20 boys and 15 girls and 16 deaths. For the comparable 1957 period there were 46 births and 19 deaths.

Billy Graham Gets Checkup At Mayo Clinic

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Ailing revivalist Billy Graham heads today for an appointment with Mayo Clinic specialists. Cautioned by Vice President Richard M. Nixon to "get some rest," he still plans a crusade in Australia.

But he is postponing the start by at least a week and is not sure whether he will be able to go through with other projected visits on a world tour.

The 40-year-old preacher may learn this week the cause of an ailment that has left him with only 50 per cent vision in his left eye. It has been described as a "rare and serious condition" by his father-in-law, a doctor.

Graham spent the night in a downtown Minneapolis hotel and plans to motor the 80 miles to the Rochester, Minn., clinic sometime today. With him will be members of his evangelistic team.

"I am sure I will recover and I have every expectation of going to Australia," Graham said. "But we have definitely canceled a meeting at the Hula Bowl in Hawaii that was set for later this month and we will have to postpone the start of the Australian crusade at Melbourne from Feb. 8 to Feb. 15."

Arriving by air Monday night from Dallas, Tex., Graham told newsmen he received a telephone call earlier in the day from Nixon in Washington, advising him to get as much rest as possible.

"He told me from personal experience he knew it was possible to win a battle and lose the war," Graham said. Graham's trouble was described by an associate as a ruptured blood vessel behind the retina of the left eye. Dr. R. Nelson Bell, his father-in-law, advised Australian officials from Montreal, N. C., Monday that Graham's condition was rare and serious, brought on by overwork.

4 Regional Offices Set Up To Fight Crime Syndicate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has created four regional offices to assemble data in connection with a long-range nationwide program to combat syndicated crime and organized racketeering.

Reporting this today, department officials said field offices are now functioning in New York City, Chicago, Los Angeles and Miami.

It is understood that in some areas under the jurisdiction of these offices, grand juries have been convened or will be called shortly to assist investigators in assembling information.

Officials are not discussing what general results have been obtained.

Boy Trapped, Is Buried Alive By Landslide

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP)—A rain soaked landslide at Land's End near the Golden Gate buried a high school youth Monday as he hiked with his girl friend up a cliff from China Beach.

Bill Stollero, 16, and Margaret Valentne, 15, had been taking photographs at the beach after finishing classes at Washington High School.

"Suddenly I heard a rumble, a terrible roaring noise," the girl said at Park Emergency Hospital where she was treated for shock, bruises and scratches.

She added that: "I looked up the hill and saw it coming and I guess at the same time I jumped to the right, toward the water. I think Bill jumped the other way."

"The mud and rocks crashed down over us. I don't know if I was knocked down or fell, but my foot hurt and I was buried up to my waist. I dug and scraped with my hands and after about five minutes I could pull myself out. "I looked for Bill. He was gone."

Firemen dug for hours in an unsuccessful attempt at recovering the boy's body until police called off the digging for the night.

RICHWOOD — The resignation of Fred Allgower as a member of the Richwood Village Council was accepted at council's meeting Monday night. No reason for his resignation was announced after the meeting. A replacement for Mr. Allgower on the council will be made at a future meeting.

Council voted to buy a new two-ton truck from the Swartz Motor Sales which submitted a bid of $2,209.65 for the vehicle.

The lawmakers voted to table until March 27 several petitions for permission to establish trailer courts in the village.

Council also voted to purchase a used car for use as a police cruiser as soon as a suitable one becomes available.

Auto-Lite Pact Vote Slated by Auto Workers

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—United Auto Workers members at the Electric Auto-Lite Co.'s plants here will vote Thursday on a tentative national agreement aimed at ending an eight-week strike of 7,000 workers in seven cities.

What UAW International Vice President Richard T. Gosser described as an "understanding on a national agreement" was reached here Monday night. He said it is for three years and provides wage hikes totaling 13 cents an hour, plus an additional eight cents for skilled workers.

There are improvements in pensions, health insurance and supplemental unemployment benefits. The proposed contract would expire March 1, 1962.

Gosser said that if a majority of UAW members in all plants approve the national agreement, the union will call an end to its strike next Monday at those plants which already have settled local issues.

On strike are 7,000 workers at plants here and in Fostoria, Ohio; Bay City and Owasco, Mich.; Vincennes, Ind.; LaCrosse, Wis. and Syracuse, N. Y.

The C124 took off from McChord AFB in Washington about noon Saturday on a flight to Kodiak, Alaska. It carried more than 17 tons of classified military cargo.

St. Paul's Church Elects 3 Vestrymen

Three vestrymen were elected when the annual parish meeting of St. Paul's Episcopal Church was held Monday night in the parish hall, following a potluck supper.

Selected to serve three-year terms on the board of vestrymen were Jasper Burt, Roy Kirk and Thomas Moretti. They succeeded Marvin Johnston, Charles Harmon and Paul Hunt whose terms expired.

Presiding for the meeting, the Rev. Stewart Labat explained the use of the rector's discretionary fund which goes to assist the poor or transient individual or family in need of emergency help.

The rector also reported on the various services to church members during the last year. Activities of the parish committees and the women's auxiliary were outlined by chairmen of the groups.

A brief vestry meeting led by the Rev. Mr. Labat followed the parish meeting. The budget for the year was approved and the new vestrymen were authorized to take office.

Eighty-three members of the parish attended the parish meeting.

Oberlin Student Council Hits Loan Program Loyalty Oath

BERLIN, Ohio (AP) — The college has applied for an undischarged amount. The faculty at Oberlin has objected to such loyalty oaths in the past, and a college spokesman said the subject may come up in a faculty meeting.

The Council described as "a new and serious danger" a requirement that loan and scholarship applicants swear they are not members of and "do not believe in" any subversive organization.

"Restriction of any one belief, as distinguished from concrete action taken in pursuit of that belief, carries with it implications of frightening proportions for all belief," the council resolved.

Last August when Congress adopted the National Defense Education Act to help education in the interest of national security, it incorporated the oath in the legislation. Congress appropriated 47 1/2 million dollars. Oberlin College.

Why Roman Meal Bread is so Good for You

A FAMOUS DISCOVERY. More than fifty years ago, a noted physician, named Dr. Jackson, quit his practice. Ill health had forced him to retire, or find a way to rewin his strength. He hoped that it might be done through proper diet....

His scholarly quest led him to an amazing discovery... The early Romans had a ration on which the Roman Soldier seemed tireless and invincible, even on forced marches to Gaul, Germany, and other distant parts of the great Roman Empire.

The basic Roman ration, for each soldier each day, consisted of whole wheat and whole rye which they made into a gruel or baked into bread. This gave each soldier his all-day energy in delicious form.

Inspired by his discovery, Dr. Jackson found, and bought, the finest high protein wheat, rye, and flax in North America. Adding bran, he developed the famous Roman Meal formula.

Roman Meal was so popular that Dr. Jackson's friends and patients demanded it (health restored, he returned to his practice). He gave his discovery to the American people in the form of Roman Meal — for Bread, Cereal, and Specialties!

The formula is strictly guarded. Only selected bakers — who make Roman Meal Bread under exclusive franchise — may handle it. It is delicious 'toasted', or in "energy sandwiches". Try it! Roman Meal Bread is baked in this area exclusively by

New York Sets 2-Cent Hike in Gasoline Levy

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State will raise its gasoline tax by two cents a gallon within a few weeks. It also may increase the income tax and raise its tax on cigarettes.

That was the outlook today as the Legislature's Republican high command moved swiftly to carry out a call by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for higher taxes to balance a record budget of nearly two billion dollars.

After weeks of hinging, Rockefeller disclosed Monday night he had decided the gasoline tax must be increased to six cents a gallon from four.

He had said previously there would be a 230-million-dollar deficit unless additional revenues were found.

He disclosed at a news conference that he also was considering:

1. A wide variety of ways of increasing the yield from the income tax — including a general boost in the tax rate, changes in exemption and a payroll withholding plan.

2. Either a one-cent or two-cent increase in the cigarette tax, now three cents a package.

'Family Life' Series at YMCA Set To Begin Thursday Night

The first session in the YMCA's new "Rediscovery of Family Life" program will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the "Y" with all parents of teen-agers invited to enroll. Dean Ludwig, adult program director, reported today.

He said the first meeting will feature a study of objectives and purposes of the six-week course. The entire program is designed to help parents better understand the problems of their teen-age offspring and how they can best adjust to the unique changes this age group brings to the family scene.

The opening session will be led by Prof. Richard Gay, director of religious activities at Ohio Wesleyan University. Other guests slated to appear on the agenda are Prof. Alan Griffin of Ohio State University, the Rev. Charles Harrison, assistant superintendent of Boys' Industrial School in Lancaster, and the Ohio State University Family Players.

Registrations for the new program, being organized under the direction of Robert Bush, may be made this week, YMCA officials reported.

The fee for participation in the entire series is $3 a person or $5 per couple. Interested persons should telephone the YMCA to register in advance of Thursday's opening session.

The new program, in the planning stage for 10 months here, has the endorsement of the Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club and Lions Club.

Ex-Crawford Treasurer Succumbs in Florida

BUCYRUS—Mrs. Mae L. Kloefer, 69, prominent Bucyrus woman, who resided on Marion Ave., died after a heart attack Sunday in Florida. Mrs. Kloefer maintains a winter home in Pompano, Fla., and was driving in Del Ray, Fla., Sunday afternoon.

Relatives here said she was accompanied by two neighbors and Mrs. Clara Smith who shared her winter home. They had gone to Del Ray to buy plants. The relatives here were told that Mrs. Kloefer was driving the car and suddenly cried out and slumped over. One of the neighbors who was in the front seat managed to grab the steering wheel and bring the car to a stop. Mrs. Kloefer was dead by the time help could be summoned.

She served as Crawford County treasurer from Sept. 1, 1941 until Sept. 6, 1953. Before becoming treasurer, she was deputy in the treasurer's office for nine years. After serving as treasurer, she again worked as a deputy in the office until 1955 when she retired. She also was an active worker for the Democratic party in the county.

Her body is at a Del Ray, Fla., funeral home but will be returned to Bucyrus later in the week.

Way Cleared for Business Upsurge

The most important single event in the economic and business life of Marion in 1959 may already have occurred on January 12.

Monday's settlement of the long and grueling strike at the Marion Power Shovel Co. should be the signal for a strong business comeback that will give Marion a sense of well-being it has lacked since 1956.

The upturn will not occur overnight. The returning workers at the Shovel Co. plant will be called back as needed over a period of weeks and it will take several months before the full effect of the strike's conclusion will filter through the entire community.

However, the psychological pull cast by the strike has been at least as damaging to other business and industry as the loss of income, and the settlement should have removed the gloom immediately.

In relatively recent years this has become truly a city of diversified industry. But the Shovel Co., once almost the only major industry in Marion, still is the bellwether and its operations set the economic pace.

Marion was not as hard hit as some cities its size during the recent recession, but its comeback has been slower than the national trend.

The reason given most frequently for this situation has been the Shovel Co. strike.

Now that the strike has been settled, there is nothing left to prevent the local economy from moving into high gear.

And Now It's Gov. DiSalle

The word from Columbus is that Michael V. DiSalle is glad because the preliminaries are over and he can buckle down to work.

His fellow Ohioans feel the same way about it. Inauguration day was a long time coming. Gov.-elect DiSalle seemed to have waited in the wings longer than usual.

As governor, he will be out in the center of the stage. And there is no doubt about it; the people put him there. He has prepared himself for this responsibility over a long period of time.

He understands what is expected of a man in public life in a high position, and as far as can be determined at the outset of his four-year term in the governorship his understanding coincides with the views of most of his fellow Ohioans.

THEY THINK he will be a firm administrator, with a sure grasp of policy and personnel.

They think he has taken the measures that were required to show his fellow Democrats that he intends to run his political organization with the same authority he expects to apply to his position as governor.

They think he is suited by temperament and training to steer a course of moderation between extremists; that he will be a middle-of-the-road governor on all matters of administrative judgment.

They think he will retain the sense of proportion that has been his trademark in public life and that sometimes has been misconstrued as nothing more than a sense of humor. Gov. DiSalle has shown many signs in recent years of becoming a political philosopher. He will do well to call on this philosophy whenever things begin to get rough.

THERE IS another trait the incoming governor has which has made many friends for him — "the common touch," as it sometimes is called in politics.

People have found it easy to identify themselves with him because he seemed to be one of them. Historians have noted that Calvin Coolidge possessed this quality to a marked degree. When he was governor of Massachusetts and later when he became President of the United States, his constituents had the feeling they were personally represented in these positions of high authority.

Gov. DiSalle starts his four-year term with these things in his favor. There may be things about the job that will cause him to change, or to seem to be different. That would be unfortunate.

AS MATTERS stand now, at the outset of the first four-year term for an Ohio governor, he appears to have everything he needs to give Ohio strong, moderate leadership.

He has his work cut out for him. He will have his full share of the problems that come to governors. But one of his problems will not be the personality and preparation of Michael V. DiSalle for the job he is tackling.

A Little Something for Everybody

The momentous battles among politicians over trifling issues of organization are over. The 86th Congress now can get on with its main business, which is to represent 170 million people and 49 states.

If the United States is lucky, it will not suffer the dismal fate that politicians inflicted on the French republic, where they finally became so absorbed in politics they represented no one but themselves.

The 86th Congress should have a little something for everybody, in the line of representation. Otherwise, representative democracy can have no future. In the past, its future looked bleakest when Congress ceased to be representative and turned into a rubber stamp.

It looked no better when it became so preoccupied with tramping on the executive department and the courts that it forgot to perform its legislative duty.

The 86th Congress does not seem inclined to stamp or trample. It seems inclined to legislate in the spirit of representative democracy.

This would mean that extremism in any direction would be curbed. It would guarantee that no hasty solutions would be imposed on problems not yet ripe for solution. It would be a promise that moderation would be a fixed goal of all drives for new laws.

There would be differences of opinion, but no feuds. There would be strains, but no tearing asunder. Congress has a heavy sense of responsibility in 1959 — and President Eisenhower is largely responsible for it.

Since 1953, he has gone out of his way to treat Congress as a co-equal. He has shunned the dictatorial attitude that kept President Truman and President Roosevelt at war with their congressional opponents and even with their congressional backers.

He has let it be known on many occasions that his aim is to get along with Congress, not to try to put himself above it. History will show, moreover, that he did get along amazingly well during the 84th and 85th Congresses.

Congress as a coordinate branch of the government never has been in a stronger position. The White House has not been misused as a sounding board to abuse it, debate it and criticize it.

His critics are saying that Mr. Eisenhower is not making what they would call a "strong record," because he does not rant and rave at Congress.

But it is to be noted for the record, also, that Congress never was in a more favorable position to carry out its Constitutional duties than it is in the absence of presidential ranting and raving. Representatives and senators do not feel that they are embroiled in a battle for political power.

At a time when everybody seems to be in a mood to snipe at the White House for not issuing a political thunderclap a day and twice on Sundays, it is only fair to point out that Congress has no complaint on that score.

Dwight Eisenhower promised as a candidate in 1952 that he would stop the practice of bad-mouthing both Congress and the Supreme Court for presidential advantage, and he has kept his promise.

The Once Over

The trip by three men and a woman by balloon and gondola from the Canary Islands to Barbados shows how desperate people are to get away from parking problems, detergent commercials, traffic jams and dizzy pace.

Mrs. Rosemary Mudie, woman passenger, must be a unique gal. Nothing is harder than to get a woman to go some place by balloon. Husband, Colin Mudie, is either a man of rare force or has a wife who always accompanies her mate on vacation with a sigh of "What would the poor guy do if he couldn't find his eyeglasses?"

Life in our bungalow is pretty boring but our suggestion to missus "Let's take a trip in a balloon" brings the sharp reply, "How nutty can you get?" We explain it would be novel and exciting. She says, "I prefer to know where I am stopping each night."

"HAVE YOU NO SPIRIT of adventure?" we ask. "I don't mind it if it includes good roads signs, room service and a chance to ask the garage attendant where the washroom is," is her reply. "You are unfair to balloons," we charge. Her answer is that she always knew we had peculiarities but this is the first time she realized we had a desire to be airborne in a basket on the high wind.

"Life is getting too complex and irritating," we insist, "a balloon could be the answer." "Who do we know who is not using their balloon this winter?" she asks. She had us there.

We heard a neighbor had a balloon with which he was dissatisfied and could sell cheap but did he have a gondola with sails in case of a water landing far from any balloonist service station? (We found we were mistaken. He has only a moon rocket in the blueprint stage.)

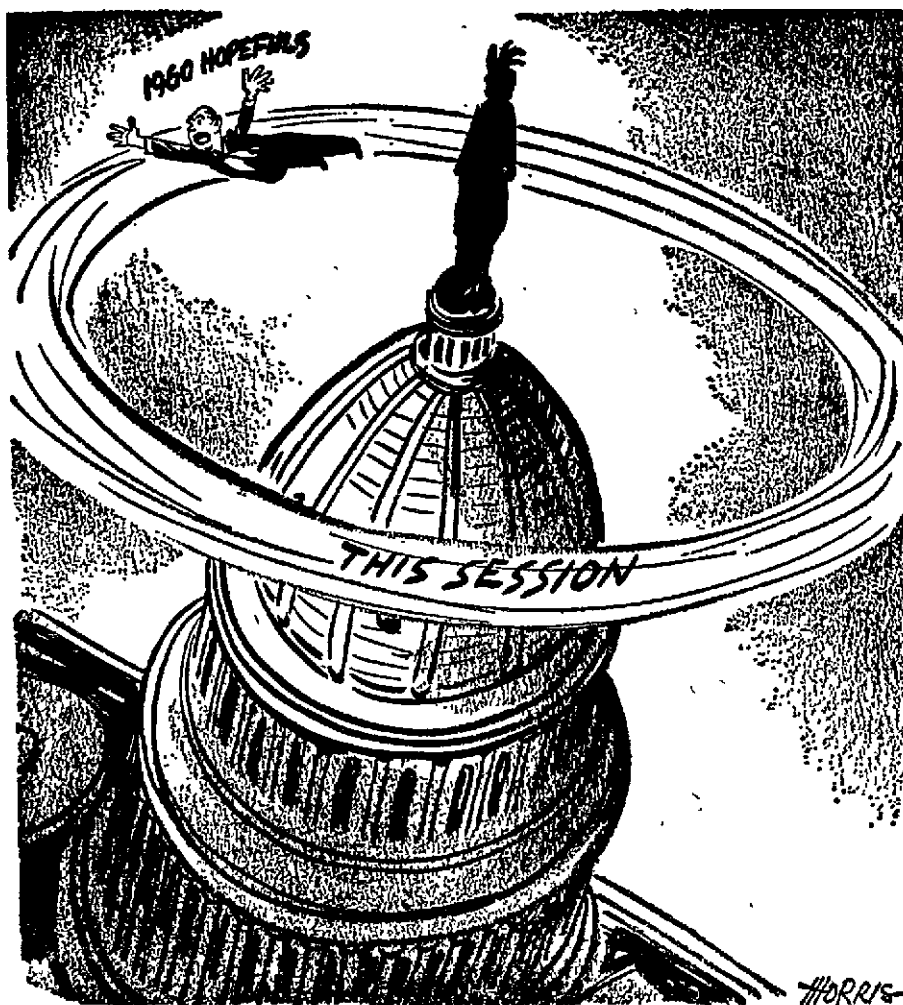

"You say you'll go and I will get a balloon and gondola somehow. Where's the mail-order catalogue for 1959?" we ask. "You can get Rosemary Mudie's," she says. "I betcha after her trip she would give it to you for your birthday."

WOMEN'S HAT STYLES are out and it looks like a wonderful spring for laughter. "Wagner told the dinner guests he was pledged to operate the city on highest principles of morality and would get rid of all officials ethically lax."—News item. What about a man drawing pay for 30 years as a city employee, for some time on $8,500 a year, going all out against the city's police commissioner and urging a Hoffa unionization?

The potbellied stove is reported coming back, with 50,000 to 75,000 sold last year. We have one, long in a Gotham elevated station and it's a terrific heater. We like it, too, because it brings back boyhood memories of vanished heating systems, the parlor stove with isinglass in the doors; and the kitchen range which doubled in brass for cooking and heating. Not so pleasant is the recollection of mornings when we had to sift the ashes, so coal could be used twice. But what a symbol of thrift it was!

Man in Orbit

Ringing Words

By Jay G. Hayden

The most sensational section of President Eisenhower's address to Congress last Friday seems not to have made the big headlines, in many newspapers in this region. Yet the fact that he said what he did, particularly while Anastas Mikoyan is in this country, can hardly be without considerable significance, especially to the men in the Kremlin.

If they really care to learn what is actually blocking a Soviet-American understanding today. For the President's statement was perhaps the strongest declaration about the Soviet Union made by a President of the United States since the close of World War II. Here are Mr. Eisenhower's exact words:

"We cannot build peace through desire alone. Moreover, we have learned the bitter lesson that international agreements, historically considered by us as sacred, are regarded in Communist doctrine and in practice to be mere scraps of paper."

"The most recent proof of their disdain of international obligations, solemnly undertaken, is their announced intention to abandon their responsibilities respecting Berlin."

"As a consequence, we can have no confidence in any treaty to which Communists are a party except where such a treaty provides within itself for self-enforcing mechanisms. Indeed, the demonstrated disregard of the Communists of their own pledges is one of the greatest obstacles to success in substituting the rule of law for rule by force."

This is the most severe indictment of the Communists that any Western government has made in recent years.

ON TOP of it has just come nevertheless a grandiose proposal from Moscow that "peace talks" over the Berlin issue be held with the 28 governments allied in the last war.

President Eisenhower realizes, of course, that the United States, to satisfy world opinion, must exhibit a constant willingness to talk. He adds, therefore, in his message:

"Yet, step by step, we must strengthen the institutions of peace—a peace that rests upon justice—a peace that depends upon a deep knowledge and clear understanding by all peoples, including our own, of the causes and possible consequences of failure in this great purpose."

Thereupon the President sets forth the only guarantee of peace today—armed strength. He says: "To achieve this peace, we seek to prevent war at any place and in any dimension. If, despite our best efforts, a local dispute should flare into armed hostilities, the next problem would be to keep the conflict from spreading and so compromising freedom. In support of these objectives we maintain forces of great power and flexibility."

"Our formidable air striking forces are a powerful deterrent to general war. Large and growing portions of these units can depart from their bases in a matter of minutes."

SIMILAR FORCES are included in our naval fleets. Ground and other tactical formations can move with swiftness and precision, when requested by friendly and responsible governments, to help curb threatened aggression.

The stabilizing influence of this capacity has been dramatically demonstrated more than once over the past year.

"Our military and related scientific progress has been highly gratifying. Great strides have been made in the development of ballistic missiles. Intermediate-range missiles are now being deployed in operational units. The Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile program has been marked by rapid development as evidenced by recent successful tests."

Missile training units have been established and launching sites are far along in construction. New aircraft that fly twice the speed of sound are entering our squadrons."

The significance of this military analysis is the use of those words which indicate what is actually operational today—not what is on the drawing board or in the testing stages.

As of this very day or month, the United States and its allies have the deterrent power to prevent any nuclear attack because the certainty of destruction of any enemy that starts such a war is well known to the Kremlin.

So, with no reliance to be placed on the word of the perfidious Communist regime, the real chance for the change in the whole picture may have to come through economic pressures from Western Europe that will eventually cause a successful uprising inside the Soviet Union and the captive countries contiguous to it.

Only when a free government emerges in Moscow, whose word can be trusted, will "the world be made safe for democracy."

The principle is as sound today as when President Wilson expounded it in his war message of April 1917.

Rain Check for Cuba

By Truman Twill

If the Cuban liberators don't mind, I'll take a rain check on their victory exultation.

I keep having the feeling this is something I've been through before, like the feeling you have when 10 minutes after a television show begins you realize you saw it three months ago.

That alone is enough to justify a decision not to go through the threadbare process of wondering how it is going to come out. You know how it is going to come out. You were there the last time.

But even more than reluctance to go through the motions of being on edge about the outcome of a familiar story is my positive disinclination to believe in the good intentions of liberators who use the firing squad to get rid of their opponents.

Totals have not been announced and probably never will be, but there is no attempt to conceal the executions of Cubans identified closely with the deposed Batista.

There even have been pictures taken of people facing firing squads and flying apart like pheasants hit with a shotgun volley. It is not the kind of thing to inspire confidence in the future of a liberation movement.

The liberators are enslaving themselves in their hour of triumph. By having recourse to the brutality they condemned when it was practiced by the Batista regime, they have practically guaranteed continuation of the blood bath in their country's politics.

The idea is not to condemn them for this, because they are doing what they think they have to do. The idea is rather to acknowledge the limitations of any political movement that must have recourse to bloodshed.

The most reassuring thing that has happened so far in Russia is the evidence that its politicians finally dare to let their opponents live; that they have evolved beyond the blood-bath technique of extinguishing the opposition. To be sure, Russia has not had a revolution. If it did, the guns would bark for blood. But until recently, guns barked for blood at the suspicion of political opposition.

Our own country is not entirely out of the woods. A man no longer loses his life in politics here. He loses his job, his prerogatives, his official automobile and the courtesies that are paid to the holder of his office.

He may lose his self-respect, his means of putting meat on the table and his reason for holding his head up high. He may never have the privilege again of having human beings fawn on him and solicit his opinions.

But he does not have to stand in front of flunkies who pump his twitching body full of hot lead, least he turn against the politician who deposed him. It has taken a few thousand years to outgrow the blood bath in the United States, but it has been worth the effort.

It might be worth the effort now to organize the International Society of Bloodlessness in Politics and admit candidates for membership only after 50 years of non-violence. That way, anyone would know how to tell the civilized nations from the less-than-civilized nations.

No Match for Johnson

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON
Senate Liberals looked amateurish compared with the professionalism of Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas who outmaneuvered their efforts to make it much easier to smash a filibuster.

To make a long story short: When the showdown came they didn't have the votes. Johnson did. Knowing the thoroughness of Johnson, it seems safe to say he had his votes lined up beforehand and the liberals didn't.

What happened would indicate one of two things about the fight they made:

1. Either they were overly optimistic on the support they'd get from the rest of the Senate and didn't make a nose count, or—

2. They knew their chance was slim but decided to go ahead and fight anyway for the sake of the record and to get at least some concessions.

UNDER THE OLD Senate Rule No. 22 a filibuster could be stopped only by a two-thirds vote of all the senators, or 66 of the 98 senators. A filibuster is a prolonged talking spree whose sole purpose is to prevent some bill or measure from coming to a vote.

Such a two-thirds vote is tremendously difficult to get in the Senate, where so many members traditionally cherish the right — which any one of them might want to use someday — to block a distasteful measure.

In addition, the rule provided no means at all — not even that big two-thirds vote — for stopping a filibuster against a motion to change the rule.

THE LIBERALS set out to get the rule changed right at the start of this session of Congress last Wednesday. They wanted it changed to let a simple majority — 50 of the 98 members — stop a filibuster.

But Johnson, leader of the majority Democrats, grabbed the floor right from the start. This was his right, as leader. And he beat the liberals to the punch by proposing that Rule No. 22 be changed this way:

To let a filibuster be stopped — not by the full two-thirds vote of 66 of the 98 senators or by 50 of the 98 — but by a simple two-thirds vote of just those senators present on the floor at voting time.

THIS MAY seem lots easier to get. In actual practice, it probably wouldn't be, because on anything so important as breaking a filibuster, most of the senators would be present anyway.

But it was a concession to the liberals. Southern Democrats, who have used the filibuster to block civil rights legislation, didn't like the concessions. It was more than they wanted to yield. It was less than the liberals wanted.

But Johnson, whose job is to try to keep all the Democratic senators working together during the year on legislation he wants passed, is a master at compromise. What he proposed about the rule change was enough of a compromise to win the votes it needed for adoption.

FROM THE time Johnson made his proposal, the liberals had almost impossible going. The reason: Johnson had made a concession that wouldn't antagonize the Southerners too much and would satisfy those other senators who thought Rule No. 22 ought to be softened a bit but not too much.

The result: The liberals were voted down on one attempt after another to get the rules changed to their liking, thus paving the way for overwhelming adoption of Johnson's proposal.

There's no doubt the liberals did a lot of homework: Research on the history of Rule No. 22 and the filibuster. But in the terribly important field of practical politics — votes — whatever they did wasn't enough.

A Woman's Country

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK
"It's a woman's country this—in a blatant way," said Siobhan McKenna.

But the Irish actress feels that European women in some ways have more real power—and are more content with their lot—than American women.

Miss McKenna flew here from Dublin to appear on TV in "What Every Woman Knows."

This soapy little drama has probably ruined more masculine lives than the three-minute business lunch. It upholds the thesis, dear to all women, that behind every successful dunderhead lies the guiding hand of a shy but firm wife. Partly as a result of this play, wives have been thrusting their sticky little paws for two generations into areas of men's lives they really know nothing about.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE in this respect between European and American women?

"The European woman is more subtle in maneuvering her man into the kind of action that will make him a great man (or at least a better man), without him realizing it," said Miss McKenna.

"The European woman seems to be a quiet little mouse with no great brainpower. She never seems to push herself, but suddenly you find out that it is she who has the ideas in the family—and her husband executes them."

Miss McKenna doubts that the wider public activity of American women really makes them much more powerful.

"The European wife is just as influential, if not more so," she observed. "But she doesn't appear in public so much. She prefers to stay behind the scenes and let her husband take the spotlight. She prefers to be the woman the man comes home to."

THE AMERICAN WIFE, Miss McKenna admits, is much more adept at entertaining her husband's boss.

"I'm not so sure that this works as well as separating the home from the office. A man has to have his independence. His home should stay his kingdom. It should be an island of calm to him—not just another salesroom for his career," she said.

The Irish actress, who has hazel-green eyes, an unruly mop of dark brown hair and looks like a freckled elf, is also dubious about the advantage of the American wife's household gadgets.

"I feel most of these modern aids in the kitchen are more trouble than they are worth," she said. "They take so much time to clean."

"The European woman has more of a sense of repose. Her time is more of her own even though she lacks many time-saving gadgets."

MISS McKenna expressed belief a European woman puts up more readily with failure on the husband's part because "she feels she is partly to blame herself."

"In Ireland you find women who are happy married to men who would be called ne'er-do-wells here. It doesn't matter to these wives that they have to go out and find the work," she said.

"It seems to me that the spiritual union is more important than whether your husband is a success."

Asked her own philosophy of life, Siobhan said:

"Never let the gilt wear off your world."

Miss McKenna is married to Irish Actor Dennis O'Dea. They have a son, Donnacha, 10.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By George Lichty

"You mean we COULD give Junior some inhibitions just by giving him a few whacks, dear?"

TO THE PEOPLE OF MARION

We know that you join us and all our employees in sincere relief that the strike at our Center Street plant has ended. Our people are being called back to work as rapidly as orderly procedures and work permit. Work which had been sub-contracted is being returned to our plant as quickly and completely as possible, in order to provide the maximum number of jobs for our own people.

Every possible step is being taken not only to get as many men back at work as quickly as possible, but to do the things necessary to provide maximum employment on a long term basis. Employee, union and management cooperation, under the new agreement, should help the company's competitive position, permitting us to get more of the orders which are our only means of providing steady jobs.

We realize, and regret, that many of you were confused about what was "going on" during the long strike. While it has been and will be our policy to keep the community informed about what we are doing, labor negotiations are difficult to report publicly and we do not believe the issues involved can profitably be "tried" in any public forum.

With the strike behind us, we all are going to work hard, not only to regain as much lost ground as possible, but so we can move forward toward a steady growth and progress that will benefit our company, our employees and our community in the months and years ahead.

We welcome our people back to work.

We pledge them and you our best sustained efforts to make this company the leader in its field and, through that, a growing credit to the community of Marion. And we ask your support and understanding as we move toward that goal.

Miss Hazel Carlene Diana Pollock became the bride of Rodney Clayton Brobeck in a 10 a.m. ceremony in Central Christian Church Dec. 26.

The Rev. Edward Weber heard the exchange of vows which united in marriage the daughter of Mrs. Lucille Steis of 372 1/2 N. Prospect St. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton E. Brobeck.

The newlyweds are making their home in Los Angeles, Calif. The new Mrs. Brobeck is a 1958 graduate of LaRue High School and was formerly employed at the Big Bear Store. Her husband, a 1957 Harding High graduate, formerly worked as a mechanic at Brobeck's Garage.

The bride, a niece of the Rev. and Mrs. Alvin R. Lamoreaux, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement McCafferty exchanged vows before the Rev. Mr. Lamoreaux, Saturday, Dec. 27.

The nuptials were preceded at 8 p.m. by a musical interlude featuring Mrs. Charles Gill, organist, and Mrs. Faith Ferguson, vocalist.

Similarly attired in blue taffeta with white organza and lace trim was the flower girl, Miss Joyce Ferguson, another cousin.

The bridegroom's cousin, Charles Warner, was best man. Ushering were Gale Perkins, Keith Daniels and Thomas Rutan.

Dressed in pink tulle, accented by a corsage of small white mums, the bride's aunt received guests at the church reception which followed the ceremony.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I've been married 8 years and I'm having trouble with my wife. We have a 7-year-old boy and I'm trying hard for his sake to keep the home together.

My wife took a job as "Bar-belle." (This is a new one on me, too. It's a girl who carries the drinks from the bar to the tables.) She wears a short skirt, black lace stockings and a tight satin blouse which is low in the front. This is her uniform but I don't think it's a proper outfit for a wife and mother.

She took the job for fun. We don't need the money. Her new friends are a pack of divorced girls. They have poor reputations and look like tramps.

My wife's hours are from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. so I'm at home every night with the boy. She throws dinner on the table and runs out the door. Some mornings she doesn't come in until 7 a.m.

I've talked to her father and he says to let her get the running around out of her system. What is your opinion?—TIED.

You'll be out of your mind before your wife "gets the running around out of her system." Since you don't need the extra money and this job is knocking your marriage to pieces, I suggest you have a frank talk with your wife and tell her she can choose between the two.

Any woman who'd rather chase around with low characters and spend every night balancing martinis in a smoke-filled bistro doesn't deserve the status of wife and mother. Maybe a few months of this routine as a steady diet and living alone in a rented room will open her eyes.

Too Much, Too Soon

Dear Ann: I'm 13 years old and my life is already ruined. My

Keep 'Em Guessing

Dear Ann: This may sound like a minor problem to you but it has troubled me for a long time. I hope you can help.

When I am with people, I talk too much. I get nervous and rattle on without thinking about what I'm saying.

Sometimes I find myself expressing such stupid ideas that I am ashamed. I notice also that I say things about people that are not in the best taste just to keep a conversation going.

I don't want to be known as a gossip or a fool, but I'm afraid if people judge me by some of my glibby performances this is what they will think. Why do I DO THIS WHEN I know better? How can I stop?—TALKATIVE.

Many people talk because they find silence embarrassing. They have the mistaken notion that silence is a sign of stupidity.

Relax when you're in a group. Ask questions and listen. Make up your mind that you're not going to say a word unless you can improve on the silence.

As one wit put it long ago it is far better to say nothing — and be thought a fool — than to open your mouth and remove all doubt.

Fisticuffs Flare in Aurora, Ill.

City Council Bouncer Floors Battling Mayor

AURORA, Ill. (AP)—Mayor Paul Egan, 58, lost a one-round brawl to Aurora City Council's 43-year-old burly sergeant-at-arms Monday.

The usually voluble mayor, who spent the night in St. Charles Hospital, refused to talk about the fight.

Hospital officials declined to report on the condition of Egan, a stormy petrel in Aurora since his election as mayor in 1953. Earlier, however, Dr. J. D. Rossman said Egan had suffered a cut on the right side of his jaw and some bruised swellings on his face. He said the mayor also complained that his back was injured.

In Monday's brief fistic encounter, Egan, feuding with his police chief and 64-man police force since last fall, was sent sprawling to the floor in a hallway outside the council chambers from a left to the jaw landed by Herman M. Halbesma, 6 feet 3, 200-pound city building inspector acting as sergeant-at-arms at a council meeting, had bounced the mayor from the council chambers on orders from other commissioners.

The fight climaxed a heated shouting match between Egan and Halbesma that broke up a wild, gavel-banging council meeting.

Egan, banging the gavel, had told the four commissioners that he would consider no business except his order of firing Police Chief Donald Curran. The commissioners ignored him and Egan continued to pound the gavel and shout.

The commissioners then ordered Halbesma to eject the mayor, who is serving his second four-year term. He pulled the struggling Egan from the mayor's chair, off the podium and out to a rear doorway.

Halbesma said Egan roared: "You fat slob, you're strangling me."

"O.K. That's it," Halbesma told the mayor. "I've had enough. You'll apologize for that."

The two men grappled and then Halbesma floored the mayor. Four policemen rushed from the traffic room to halt the fracas. Egan ran down the stairs, jumped into a cab and went to the hospital.

BUCYRUS — Larceny charges were filed here Monday by Bucyrus police against five Crestline men suspected of stealing scrap metal from the fire-razed Crawford Steel Foundry Co. here.

Grand larceny charges were filed against Paul Hoke, and Leroy Knox, petit larceny charges against Frank Knox and Cornelius Walker, while Leroy Canada is charged with both grand and petit larceny.

Charges were filed after Crawford Steel officials estimated the value of the stolen goods at $89. The loot was composed of 283 pounds of scrap aluminum.

The scrap metal allegedly was taken on Dec. 19-20 and later sold to a junk dealer in Mansfield, according to authorities.

Bucyrus police and the Crawford County sheriff's department collaborated in the investigation which led to the arrest of the five men after a tip from the Richmond County sheriff's department.

The men, all held in city jail here, probably will be arraigned before Mayor Joe Sullivan Wednesday.

Gov. Faubus Takes Third Term Oath

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today is to take a third-term oath as Arkansas' chief executive, and then present his legislative program to the 62nd General Assembly.

The inaugural address, before a joint session of the legislature which convened Monday, was set for 11 a.m. CST.

Faubus, who emerged during his second two-year term as an unwavering foe of school integration, in recent weeks had indicated that he would seek: new segregation laws, a department of agriculture, and a building program.

The only other governor elected to a third term in Arkansas' 123-year history as a state was Jeff Davis in 1905.

Policeman Indicted

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Warrior Blanton, 58, of South Shore, Ky., and a former Ashland, Ky., policeman, was indicted Monday by the Lawrence County Grand Jury on a charge of second-degree murder in the fatal shooting of William K. Hall, 44, of North Keokua, the shooting, Dec. 8, took place during an argument in a house three miles east of nearby South Point.

Revocation Proceedings Held Off

Action Deferred by State In School Charter Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fifteen state approved driver training schools may have a few more weeks of reprieve before they face loss of their charters on charges of failing to meet minimum state education standards.

E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, had planned to recommend the revocations at the state board of education meeting here Monday, but he withdrew his recommendation temporarily pending additional steps under the Administrative Procedures Act.

His department must draw up resolutions calling for revocations of licenses, and public hearings must be held before action to revoke the charters can be taken.

Schools Involved

The 15 high schools involved, and their home county: Jefferson, Adams County; Byrd, Brown County; Moscow, Clermont County; Jefferson, Clinton County; Plainfield, Coshocton County; Weststone, Crawford County; Marshall, Highland County; Carbon Hill, Brockbridge, Gibsonville, South Bloomingville, all in Hocking County; North Fairfield, Huron County; Amity, Knox County; Quincy, Logan County and Martel, Marion County.

Another six high schools are being continued on temporary charters pending action to better their standards. They are Albany in Athens County, Fulton in Fulton County, Greenwich in Huron County, Howard in Knox County, Waterloo and Windsor in Lawrence County.

Tri-County District Okayed

The board approved the creation of a tri-county school district in Sandusky, Seneca and Wood counties. The district will be assigned to the Sandusky County school system, effective Jan. 17, the board ruled.

Five men were named to the new district board. They were Herbert Ritter, president of the Jackson-Burgess District, Sandusky County; Royal Harrison and Edward Kissabeth, both of the Jackson-Liberty Board in Seneca County, and Otis Bower and Norman Swaisgood, both on the Rising Sun Board in Wood County.

Disapproved the transfer of a portion of Mahoning local school district to Salem.

Approved $220,228 for the Plymouth Local School District in Richland County for school building assistance.

Must Enforce Minimum Standards

Action on Amish Schools Is Left to Local Officials

COLUMBUS—Two Amish-operated high schools appear headed for a long battle with the State of Ohio and the State School Board over minimum educational standards.

E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, Monday gave the school board a report which stated the two schools of the Menonite religious sect, known as the "Old Order Amish," do not meet the state's minimum standards.

Affirms Findings

The board, by a 19-2 vote, approved a resolution confirming the department's findings and called on the State Department of Education to give "all lawful assistance to local authorities in the enforcement of minimum standards, whether through school attendance laws or any other appropriate means."

The resolution thus put the responsibility of enforcing the standards of the local school superintendents.

Introduced by Myers

Charlton Myers of Marion, a member of the state board, introduced the resolution. It reads as follows:

"Several months ago the department of education received a request from the superintendent at Millersburg for a determination of whether the newly established Amish vocational school in Holmes County conformed to the minimum high school standards established by this board. Such determination, it was felt, was necessary before local authorities could proceed to enforce the school attendance laws with respect to children attending such schools."

"The department then undertook an investigation of these vocational schools with a view to making such determination. We have the results of that study before us."

"Although it is questionable whether any formal confirmation by this board is now required, I feel that we should go on record as approving these findings and offering all such support to local authorities in their action upon the findings as we are permitted to give."

"I therefore move that this board approve and confirm the department's findings to the effect that the recently established Amish vocational schools referred to in this report are not conforming to established minimum standards, and that all personnel in the department of education be directed to give all lawful assistance to local authorities in the enforcement of such minimum standards, whether through the school attendance laws or any other appropriate means."

"Worldly wisdom taught in public schools conflicts with our way of life. Our religion is built around simplicity."

When Loren E. Souers Jr. of Canton, a board member, asked Hershberger if the schools could have qualified vocational teachers, plus Amish religious teachers, Hershberger replied that it would be hard for them to have so many different teachers.

Hershberger said he felt what was needed was a court test, that there was a question of inalienable rights involved in the problem.

Lyndon Johnson Scores Victory in Senate's Filibuster Fight

Rule Change Is Adopted in 77-22 Vote

Democratic Leader's Proposal Is Accepted Without Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has changed its rule governing debate, but the argument continued today over how big a step it had taken toward curbing filibusters.

"No gain at all," commented Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY), one of a group of Northern and Western senators who had fought to make it easier to throttle filibusters against civil rights bills and other measures.

"A soothing syrup to lull the conscience of America," was the assessment of Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-ILL), one of the leaders of the bipartisan fight for a rules change.

Protests Voiced

Some Southern senators protested that the change—any change—went too far.

But an overwhelming majority of the Senate voted 77-22 for the new rule to allow two thirds of the senators present and voting to cut off debate. A rule in effect since 1917 had required the votes of two thirds of the entire Senate membership, or 66 of the 98 senators.

The rules battle roared to its climax Monday night with senators in sharp disagreement over what the effect of the new rule will be.

Victory for Johnson

But no one questioned that the outcome was a spectacular triumph for Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader.

The change in rules went through just the way he proposed it on the opening day of the new Congress last Wednesday. Johnson and other Senate leaders of both parties called it a reasonable, middle-of-the-road solution.

Douglas said, however, that it marked a great victory for Southern senators.

With the aid of conservative Republicans, he said, they had been able "not to bludge but to reverse the drive for civil rights and an effective filibuster rule."

In contrast, Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-GA), said "it is a sad day when the Senate of the United States degrades itself by imposing new restraints on freedom of debate."

Driver Facing Charges After Crawford Mishap

BUCYRUS — Terry K. Ackerman, 19, of Bucyrus, was charged with unsafe operation and cited to appear in mayor's court here after his auto slammed into the back end of another car on Crawford County Rd. 81 Monday night.

State patrolmen here said Ackerman's westbound vehicle struck the car driven by George J. Stout, 16, of Bucyrus. Both autos were considerably damaged in the accident at 9:15 p.m., three miles north of Bucyrus.

Tiffin Trucker Charged With Manslaughter

KENTON — Albert F. Ohl, 24-year-old Tiffin truck driver involved in last Wednesday's accident in which six people were killed, was arraigned in Kenton Municipal Court Monday afternoon on six counts of second-degree manslaughter.

Ohl was charged in an affidavit signed by Deputy Sheriff James Baldrige who investigated the accident. The affidavit was drawn up by Prosecuting Attorney Paul McKinley. In it Ohl is charged with driving left of center at the time of the accident.

Ohl entered no plea to the charges and requested a continuance of the hearing so he could consult with counsel. The hearing was continued by Judge Herman D. Lease until Thursday morning at 10:30. His bond was set at $1,000 and the trucker was released when he posted the money.

The accident last Wednesday morning on U.S. Rt. 68 about two miles north of here involved Ohl's truck and a car carrying six Cleveland, Tenn., men, all of whom were killed instantly in the head-on collision. Ohl was driving a tanker truck loaded with naphthalene. Officers investigating the accident said only "a miracle" prevented the explosive naphthalene from exploding.

Ohl was injured in the accident and treated for several days at the San Antonio Hospital here. Killed in the accident were John B. Gibson, 32, driver of the car; Robert David Lee, 31; Richard Eugene Kelly, 28; Horace Boyd, 24; Floyd Clark, 22; and Herbert Goins, 41. They were on their way to Detroit to purchase cars and drive them back to Cleveland.

Obscenity

"I tell you we're not trying to deny anybody's freedom, we're just trying to get them to obey the law," he declared.

"In America we have two constitutional guarantees that can put a stop to obscene literature," he said. One is the police power, the other is freedom of speech. "We can speak out against the problem and make our neighbors aware," he said.

He termed indecent literature "a cancer in our society," and said that 16 of 19 great empires that have fallen during history were conquered by moral decay from within. "Unless this market is curbed, America will pass away through moral decay," he warned.

In answer to questions, he stressed that the Ohio C.D.L. and associated local groups are not acting as censorship boards. "Such boards," he said, "are not effective—principally, I suppose, because the American citizen will object to being told what he can and can't read."

"We simply ask that the law not be violated," he said.

ASKED WHAT individuals can do to help stamp out indecent literature, Mr. Keating replied that the best thing is to write a letter to the mayor, police chief, solicitor or prosecutor seeking and supporting action.

"When you get good men, as I've seen you have here, don't hesitate to bring this problem to their attention and compliment them for the job they are doing," said Mr. Keating.

He also referred to the local C.D.L. group and the speakers, bureau it has set up. He suggested that interested citizens contact Mrs. Ray Shellhorn, scheduling chairman, for a speaker for PTA and fraternal organization meetings.

"When Marion and other communities join this movement, we soon will have an entire state which we can hold up as a model for the rest of the country which is watching us with interest," he said.

Election Candidates

Catholic Church. Mr. Kelley is married and has five children. Officials at the Marion County Board of Elections also reported today that two candidates filed their petitions Monday afternoon. They are Mrs. Georgia Cooper Burton, seeking Republican nomination as mayor, and James C. Jenkins, bidding for Democratic nomination as Second Ward councilman.

Mrs. Burton, a 36-year-old mother of five, is the first woman in Marion history to seek the office of mayor. She is the wife of Marion E. Burton, local advertising executive. She was an unsuccessful candidate for nomination as councilman at large in the 1957 primary.

Mr. Jenkins, 59, served five terms as Second Ward councilman before being defeated in the 1957 primary by incumbent John Williams. Mrs. Burton today released a 20-point platform defining her stand on major community issues. "As the campaign proceeds," she said, "I will amplify and clarify my position."

Her platform is as follows: "1. A community master plan should be developed, with the aid of professional planning consultants, as an efficient guide to solve our current problems and organize future growth. A fully representative Marion area planning commission should be organized to advise the elected officials of community needs.

"2. All phases of the Brown and Roberts traffic recommendations should be put into effect as soon as possible. I wholeheartedly endorse the downtown underpass proposal.

"3. Marion needs a full-time traffic engineer, trained to handle this vital and continuing problem.

"4. The recently adopted sewer district program is a major step forward. It should be continued and expanded.

"5. Our city needs a full-time professional recreation director and a substantially stepped-up program. Our parks need major improvements and additional facilities.

"6. The Marion school system needs a school year public kindergarten, more new classrooms, and salary increases for our teachers.

"7. The safety-service director has entirely too much responsibility for one person. This function should be divided between two people, one each for safety (fire and police), and service (garbage, street maintenance, cleaning, etc.).

"8. Marion needs a full-time welfare director to coordinate public and private welfare efforts.

"9. It is perfectly clear that additional income will be required to finance needed city improvements and I believe that a city income tax will best serve this purpose.

"10. Marion needs additional off-street parking facilities in the downtown shopping area as soon as possible.

"11. Our community needs an industrial development commission with an aggressive program to bring new industry to Marion.

"12. It is my opinion that Marion would benefit most under a city manager type of administration.

"13. The Marion area needs additional hospital facilities and I would support an organized effort to secure them.

"14. I believe our citizens' cultural interests should be supported and encouraged by the establishment of a community arts center and an organized program embracing music, crafts, fine arts, theater arts, etc.

"15. For healthy community growth, we need a fair and uniform building code.

"16. We must think and plan in terms of area growth and improvement through annexation of the city's contiguous areas.

"17. City, county and township zoning needs major revision and should be handled on a cooperative and uniform basis.

Two Suspects Questioned in Wood's Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two men have been arrested and a third is being sought in the mysterious death of former television newsman Ed Wood, police disclosed Monday night.

Held are Robert G. Edwards Jr., 34-year-old tenant of the building where Wood's badly beaten body was found last Thursday, and Carl Oscar Lewis, 28, of Columbus. Wanted is Alfred Spencer Trayham, 32, also of Columbus. Missing from Wood's body were his wallet, coat and wrist watch.

Police, who hold to the theory that Wood died in a fall down stairs, said that on Wednesday night, Wood cashed a payroll check at a bar and after several stops at other bars, left with a man he apparently knew. They disappeared for a couple of hours.

Later, Wood was brought to Edwards' third-floor apartment, where Edwards said Lewis and Trayham brought Wood to "roll" him.

Edwards told the two men he "didn't want any part of it," and the two left taking Wood down the stairs with them.

Edwards said he heard the two hit Wood on the second floor landing. He said Wood cried: "Don't hit me. You don't have to beat me up. You can take what I have."

Edwards said the two left Wood in a room and took his coat. Lewis' statement paralleled Edwards' except he said he was in Edwards' apartment when Trayham brought Wood to the third floor.

Both Lewis and Trayham were recently released from Ohio Penitentiary.

Lo Robert Glöeckner said: "It's obvious what happened... there was no light... no way for light to get in... he'd been hit... had a 3 per cent alcohol count... it was blacker than the ace of spades... the stairs were awful steep... he hit the stone at the bottom."

THE BOARD president said he felt that an 84 elementary-high school program would be "more efficient to operate."

"Most of us," he added, "have fine gymnasiums, for one thing, and we feel that our seventh and eighth grade youngsters would get much more out of an athletic program here at home than they would if put into a larger group."

Mr. Lashey, whose board had obviously discussed the one-district plan in detail prior to the meeting, said his group felt strongly that transportation problems arising from sending children to both a high school and seventh-eighth grade center would be sizeable.

The president also pointed out that, in the board's opinion, a single board would not be sufficient to operate a school program the scope of which would prevail in a one-district plan.

He asked if it would not be more feasible to have three boards, one for each of the high schools. "One board, because of distance, could not possibly have its thumb on the pulsebeat of the whole system," he asserted.

C. J. Roberts wondered if the Green Camp board was advocating three high schools and three specific programs. Mr. Lashey said that was "the general idea."

MR. FLACH observed that "in the event that our own particular district had no one on the board, we would have very little to say about how the district was operated."

Mr. Williams noted that it would be up to the county board to appoint the members of the new district board. But they would serve only until the next general election, at which time the district's electorate would choose its own board members.

"It looks to me," Mr. Flach said, "that with a single board for a district the size of Marion County, considerable would be lost in administration."

Mr. Lashey suggested that qualified personnel would have to be hired to run the district, so complex would be many of its problems, not the least of which would be purchasing. John H. Mills declared that in all probability this would be true, but added that these were problems of administration that could be resolved once the district was a reality.

Mr. Williams said that he would agree with the Green Camp board on the assertion that "one board would have its hands full operating a single district."

MR. BEAVER wanted to know if he was correct in the assumption that a majority in each of the 10 districts would have to favor the plan in order for it to become reality. And, if so, was there any possibility of the law being changed in that respect?

D. T. Mills pointed out that a majority in each of the 10 districts would have to support the measure in order to effect its passage. But, he noted that legislation was being drawn up to change this setup to one in which a majority of the county's residents at large could vote a one-district plan into being.

Also present were Beaver Bricker, clerk of the board; Norman Roettger, Green Camp superintendent, and Maurice Young, school principal. Representing the county board were Ralph F. Williams, president, and C. J. Roberts, Edwin Carey, H. Clay Smith and John H. Mills. D. T. Mills and Harry Alexander, superintendent and assistant superintendent, respectively, of the county schools, also were in attendance.

Mr. Lashey, prior to voicing his board's objections to the one-district plan, told Mr. Williams that the Green Camp body "appreciates the fact that the survey was taken."

"This," he said, "is the first time we have had facts and figures to work with. We don't agree on all its recommendations, but we think it is a good thing with which to start."

ing at which the contract was rejected. The May agreement called for a 5-cent wage increase, another 5-cent boost in 1960, and a 7th paid holiday, along with changes in the seniority system and elimination of machine bidding and bumping.

It was the latter issue on which the strike was called Sept. 9, although the union soon broadened its demands to cover 10 issues, including wages.

Negotiations between company and union bargaining teams, which were conducted throughout the summer and after the strike began, resulted in tentative agreement on non-economic issues in early December.

This was hinged to final agreement on economic issues, however, and the union rejected a company offer on wages Dec. 12. This called for an immediate 7-cent boost (including the 5-cents granted in May), 8 cents in December 1959 and 8 cents in 1960.

The strike affected only the company's main W. Center St. plant. Union locals representing workers at the other Shovel plants, and the office workers, signed agreements in the summer.

These unions were Local 2627, United Steel Workers, for the office workers; International Association of Machinists for Osgood, and Moulders and Foundry Workers for Commercial Steel. These agreements followed the 5-cent boost, 4-cent next-year pattern, and provided for a seventh paid holiday.

Throughout the long strike, both union and management were ready and willing to negotiate at any time. On two occasions, negotiations were held in Washington, D.C. Other out-of-city meetings were held in Cleveland and Columbus.

Federal mediators were present at most of the meetings. There were few instances of violence in the strike.

The union negotiating team present at the session Friday which resulted in agreement consisted of:

John S. Johns, district director; Edgar deLassalle, staff representative; Earl Fleming, president of Local 1949; Harold Townsend, vice president; Howard Rizer, treasurer; Francis Postell, financial secretary; Gerald Chandler, chairman of the grievance committee; William Walker, trustee, and Arthur Levy, co-chairman of the grievance committee.

The company was represented by D. Russell Gochour, employee relations director; David Reich, vice president; John Wettergreen, vice president; Robert Scott, industrial relations manager, and J. L. Halberstein of the Strelitz, Halberstein and Mitchell law firm.

MR. CAREY observed that in all probability the state board would back up the county board in its efforts to keep school children in a good county program. "The state board has urged consolidation now for some time," he said, and added, "It would be tragic if, after we accomplished a single district, it refused to stand behind us in providing for the successful culmination of plans for that district."

Mr. Williams asked the Green Camp members if they had any alternate suggestions to offer as to how they thought the county should handle its school problems.

Mr. Lashey then noted that his board did have an alternate plan, but said he would prefer to present it "after the county board had met with the rest of the local districts. To make a proposal now might jeopardize your entire program," the board president commented.

In conclusion, Mr. Lashey said he and his board felt that "a fine job has been done on this survey. We have, at long last, something concrete to work with."

"We believe you will rebuff those seeking special privilege, deny the greedy, resist the evil promoters and with a steady hand guide the Buckeye state of state, holding high the torch of idealism for liberty, justice and equality for all men everywhere."

O'Neill Leaves Quickly O'Neill did not stick around to hear his successor take the oath of office. He and his aides left the Capitol quickly.

DiSalle spoke for nearly 15 minutes in his inaugural remarks. "We will try to administer your state with every bit of economy possible," he said. "We will meet decent standards for the charges of the state. We will keep the citizens of Ohio completely informed of the good and the bad."

"I pledge to you all of my efforts, all of my abilities to bring to the people of Ohio the best government possible."

After that, DiSalle and the state's new first lady, Mrs. Myrtle DiSalle, shook thousands of hands in a public reception in the Statehouse rotunda.

"We believe you will rebuff those seeking special privilege, deny the greedy, resist the evil promoters and with a steady hand guide the Buckeye state of state, holding high the torch of idealism for liberty, justice and equality for all men everywhere."

O'Neill did not stick around to hear his successor take the oath of office. He and his aides left the Capitol quickly.

DiSalle spoke for nearly 15 minutes in his inaugural remarks. "We will try to administer your state with every bit of economy possible," he said. "We will meet decent standards for the charges of the state. We will keep the citizens of Ohio completely informed of the good and the bad."

March Writes for Marie Torre

Because Miss Torre refused to reveal the source of a news item that appeared in her column, she has been sentenced to 10 days in jail. While she is away, her friends in television are writing guest columns.

By HAL MARCH

In the last few months there has been a good deal written about the TV networks' failing to meet their obligations to the public. Having been in the business of entertainment for 20 years in one capacity or another, and having been witness to the problems of the decision makers of the business, I feel I must come to the defense of the networks. The cry has been that there is an obvious "lack of inventiveness and diverse programming" since TV's birth.

To a great extent this is true, but one must remember that under the American system of broadcasting the networks are virtually a market place for the ideas of advertising agencies or the sponsors they represent.

PROPOSED SHOWS are brought to market and they are given to the public to sample. If the public buys these shows, they become an item on the shelves (or broadcast hours). True, the networks in most cases can reject the ideas, but being in the business of bringing entertainment to the public, they must be open-minded, perceptive, clairvoyant, show-wise and then hope for the best.

Now, one of the containers for immortality hits—let's say "Gunsmoke," "Lucy," or even "48 Hours." The networks at this point have met their obligation to the public. They have presented entertainment of high caliber. Unfortunately, though, there are still a number of hours to be filled and therein lies the rub.

BECAUSE EACH of the networks is faced with the frightening task of offering high-grade entertainment for 18 hours every day, it becomes literally impossible to avoid a 'lack of inventiveness and diverse programming.'

Invariably the success bromide, "Don't fool with success," becomes the battle cry and there follows a string of copies of the original hits and ultimately the basis for criticism.

It must be understood that the blame for this does not lie solely with the networks. They, in addition to recognizing their obligation to the public, are in the business of selling time. If their programming departments reject all but a few of the sponsor's choice of programs, copies or not, they will find themselves bankrupt.

It should be said here that the problem of the sponsor is by no means a light one, either. When one realizes that the cost of an average half-hour show is approximately $100,000, it is easy to understand that the sponsor wants to take as few chances as possible with anything other than an established successful formula.

BUT BACK to the networks and their alleged conscienceless output of mediocrity.

This is not a new story. The same state of affairs existed in radio because of the same pressures, namely, 19 hours to fill. When motion pictures were to fill, they had hundreds of thousands of theaters to supply every week, and is there a man jack among us who doesn't remember some of the cinema stinkers that we paid to see?

The simple truth of the matter is that when the demand is greater than the supply, there must necessarily follow a lessening of quality. This obvious bit of observation holds true for fashion, restaurants, automobiles, etc., so why not for theatrical inspiration?

THE TV BLASTERS are dealing with men's minds and nothing else. If they can devise a way of impregnating these minds with great new ideas, forcing them to blossom and be executed every half hour for 18 hours every day, let them be assured that the networks will see to it that they are knighted, made wealthy and enshrined in color tubes.

Obviously there is a slight shortage of truly fine programs on TV, but certainly not a dearth. As long as shows like "Playhouse 90," "Edward R. Murrow, Sports Events," "Groucho Marx, Fred Astaire and other great stars in specials, Omnibus, Phil Silvers weekly, Sid Caesar occasionally, Gleason when we can get him, Perry Como, Dinah Shore, "Meet the Press," and countless others, illuminate our living rooms some of the time, I, for one, am willing to spend the rest of the time talking with my family and friends and reading while I wait for the networks to see the error of their ways and try to improve on the magnificent job they've done thus far. Unwanted Catch GALLIE, R.I. (AP)—The four-man crew of the fishing dragger "Bob 'N' Barry" didn't like the extra 500 pounds in a 1,500 pound catch.

In fact, the crew made a run for port because of the extra 500 pounds picked up with 1,000 pounds of cod.

The extra weight? A magnetic mine—live—similar to the type used by the United States during World War II.

A simple and flavorful way of preparing fish fillets is to dot them with butter, top with sliced mushrooms or slit scallions; then put them in an air-tight packet of aluminum foil and bake in a hot oven 20 minutes.

Governor in Control

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Seventeen Republican lawmakers, in an informal resolution Monday, asked if the heat could be turned down in Idaho's House "in the interests of economy and in the presence of excessive Democratic hot air."

Replied Don Pieper, Democratic majority leader: "The State House has a central heating system, and the furnace remains under the Governor's jurisdiction." Gov. Robert E. Smylie is a Republican.

Ball Too Crowded

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Gov. George Docking didn't get to dance at his inaugural ball Monday night.

Mikoyan Soviet Expert In Economic Espionage

By VICTOR RIESEL

Those who are not being beastly to Comrad Anastas Mikoyan, second in command of the Soviet Union, should know that our intelligence agencies have the visiting tovarisch listed as a former chief of economic espionage specializing in the U.S.

Bluntly and brutally, the visitor now being feted in our best places was under assignment from Joseph Stalin to steal our basic research and newest industrial secrets in the war's final years.

Working under Mikoyan were spy rings about which the public never learned. But from these rings, Mikoyan funneled some of the industrial developments which have enabled the Russians to beat us into outer space. Mikoyan was not just another member of the Soviet Union's Politburo making general policy.

VICTOR RIESEL

The now genial visitor wrote the espionage orders himself. He handed them to secret agents for transmittal to America in Soviet diplomatic pouches.

THEY WERE, in turn, handed to Comintern representatives as well as hundreds of lesser Soviet officials in the U.S.

Some of the orders were passed on to pro-Soviet labor leaders, long since exposed. These men, Americans and Russians, were working daily right in the innards of our most guarded industries.

That was in the days when Comrade Mikoyan officially was the Soviet Union's foreign trade minister.

To get some of this pedigree on the man now here for a "soft sell" of the Soviets to the American people, you need not have access to any cloak and dagger bureau dossier. You need only find one man, still active in Washington and New York.

He is one of Mikoyan's former aides, Victor Kravchenko by name. Back in the war years, Kravchenko was economic attache of the U.S.S.R. Purchasing Commission in Washington. But he chose freedom. He broke with the Soviets.

Later, in April 1947, he swore under oath publicly to what he had secretly told our counter-intelligence agencies during the intervening years.

KRAVCHENKO told the House Un-American Activities Committee:

"One more fact, Mikoyan, this foreign trade minister, sent an order, a very secret order.

"All the responsible, prominent members, the Soviet representatives in the U.S., (telling them) how to carry on economic espionage and on what special problems in the U.S." Kravchenko said, describing the Mikoyan order.

"This document was delivered to special secret agents in Washington and, it goes without saying, was delivered, thanks to diplomatic immunity. In the same way secret party orders were delivered to Washington from the Central Committee of the party. . . .

"I must state in general that no person holding an important position in connection with the economic, political and military organizations and arriving in the U.S. from the Soviet Union arrives without a special assignment as to the collection of secret information."

All this is known in detail to the top AFL-CIO leaders at their Washington headquarters.

THEY WERE, therefore, surprised, chagrined and some of them bitter and angered when they learned that James Carey, a member of the AFL-CIO's eight-man executive committee, had invited Mikoyan to a special creamed chicken lunch at his union headquarters.

Some of the labor leaders assumed no undue subtlety in telling this to Carey when he personally telephoned Monday evening and Tuesday morning to ask them to sit with the Soviet officials.

Among those who turned Carey down were AFL-CIO President George Meany and the Machinists' leader Al Hayes. They said they would not sit with a representative of the nation under whose guns hundreds of working people die each day.

There were those who resented this hospitality to Mikoyan because he arrived in the midst of violent anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic propaganda campaigns inside the Soviet Union.

Mr. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, also attempted to interest Lewellyn Thompson, U.S. Ambassador to Moscow, who now is in Washington. Mr. Thompson said, in effect, "It's all yours, Jim. I wouldn't touch him."

Just what does it take on the Soviets' part for some of our people to treat them as we treated the Nazis — of which they are but a different hue?

CCC Truck Firm To Close Terminal

Plans to shut down the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Highway, Inc., trucking terminal north of Marion were announced today by J. J. Bernet, the firm's vice president in charge of sales.

He said the firm will combine the Marion terminal with a new terminal in Mansfield effective Jan. 19. Combining the terminals and shifting operations to Mansfield will eliminate costly transfers at Columbus and Cleveland and also cut out one extra freight handling operation, he said. Mr. Bernet said the Marion terminal, located at the junction of Routes 23 and 4, probably will be sold. Employees at the local terminal, of which there are about 20, will be offered employment at either the Mansfield or Columbus terminal, he said. Eldon (Lee) Parsons is branch manager here. The CCC firm will maintain spare or additional equipment in the Marion area to meet emergency requests, Mr. Bernet said.

After 15 years of bowling, Betty Enfinger of Columbus, Ga., became the first woman to roll a 600 series in her home city.

Jimmy Orr Named as Top Rookie in NFL Campaign

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Orr, an unheralded offensive end who gained stature with the Pittsburgh Steelers as the season progressed, today was voted the National Football League's 1958 rookie of the year in a close race with Bobby Mitchell of the Cleveland Browns.

The 5-11 native of Seneca, S.C., who did his college playing for Georgia University, received 16 votes of the 41 football writers voting in the annual Associated Press poll. Mitchell, the speedy halfback who started the season as if he were going to run off with first year honors only to slow down in the final weeks, received nine votes.

Indians Sign 4 For '59 Action

CLEVELAND (AP) — Here it is nearly mid-January and there's been no mention yet of possible holdouts among the Cleveland Indians. A far cry from the days of Early Wynn and Bob Avila with their annual attempts to be more stubborn than ex-General Manager Hank Greenberg.

Monday, four more signed contracts came in, raising the number of players inside the wigwag to 25. Fourteen still are unsigned. The latest signers are: Chuck Stigman, 23, who had a 15-7 mark as a southpaw with the Boston Braves.

Bob Tisenauer, a righthander who pitched in 67 games with Toronto as a reliever, winning 17 and losing five.

Al Cicotte who was pitching in the Cuban League before the revolution and who was obtained in the trade with Detroit to get Billy Martin. Cicotte's record with the Tigers last year was 3-4.

Infielder George Strickland, a former Indian attempting a comeback after being out of baseball all last season.

British Champ Offers Terms For Patterson

LONDON (AP) — Newly crowned British heavyweight champion Henry Cooper today hoisted his price for tackling world champion Floyd Patterson to $140,000.

"That's what we want for any fight against Patterson," manager Jim Wicks said. "It doesn't matter whether the fight is here or in the States — that is our figure."

But Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, was far from receptive to Wicks' demands when he was contacted in New York.

"For one thing," D'Amato snapped, "the defeat does not eliminate London. For another thing, many people are anxious to fight for the world heavyweight championship. None of them is in a position to dictate to the champion. Perhaps the one who makes the most concessions will wind up with the title bout."

The 24-year-old Cooper jumped into a contender's spot with a 15-round decision over Brian London at London's Earls Court Stadium Monday night.

It was one of the bloodiest heavyweight fights ever seen in the British ring.

Both fighters finished badly out of the eyes — but Cooper's flashing left jab won him the title.

Cooper, a classic boxer, outclassed a brawling, mauling London. The Associated Press gave 11 rounds to Cooper, 4 to London.

British promoter Jack Solomons wants to match him now against Johansson of Sweden in a European title fight in London in June.

"We'll listen to every offer and take the one that brings the most cash," Wicks said.

Class in Football Officiating Begins

More than 45 persons have registered for the class in football officiating in this year's adult education program at Harding High School.

The unexpectedly heavy response has forced the officials of the program to divide the course into two classes. The first session will meet tonight at 7 p.m. with the other session on Thursday.

The classes will meet for two-hour sessions during the next 10 weeks. The classes are being conducted under auspices of the Ohio High School Athletic Association and an official of the OHSAA will be on hand at the conclusion of the course to conduct the examination leading to certification as a football official in Ohio.

Many of the persons registering for the classes, however, are local fans wishing only to further knowledge of the game and to broaden their understanding of happenings on the gridiron.

Robert Ferguson, secretary of the Heart of Ohio Football Officials Association, will serve as instructor for the classes and will be assisted by other members of the group.

Emil Lisak, director of the adult program, said the high registration has prevented the school from separating those men wishing to become officials into a separate class. Any person not knowing the day of his class is asked to contact Mr. Ferguson at 2-3236 or at 322 Belmont St.

Cagers Seek Contests

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Bolt and Dow Finsterwald, reigning kings of American pro golf, and Dick and Dixon Chapman, the national father-son titleholders, today were added to the list of golf notables who will attend the national awards dinner of the Metropolitan Golf Writers Assn., Jan. 27.

The church squad is interested mainly in road games but will accept bookings on a home and home basis. Any team coach or player interested in scheduling a contest should contact Herman Hoy at 219 S. Warpole St. in Upper Sandusky or call him at 1290.

Olmedo Starts Net Drill After 5-Day Illness

MELBOURNE (AP) — Alex Olmedo took his first tennis workout in five days today and said he felt virtually no pain from a strained stomach muscle.

"I'm sure if there is no new trouble I will be ready to play in Adelaide," the Peruvian hero of America's Davis Cup victory said. "I plan to take no chances but at the moment I feel great."

Although seeded No. 1 among the foreign entrants, Olmedo's play in the Australian National Championships has been in doubt because of a recurrence of an old ailment.

The muscle became agitated in the West Australian tournament at Perth last week and Olmedo was forced to withdraw from both singles and doubles.

Since then he has been undergoing daily heat treatments. Olmedo worked out on the combination hard court in the Olympic Games cycling arena where Jack Kramer's pro tournament is in progress.

He played with Pancho Gonzales and Pancho Segura.

Other members of the American Davis Cup team — Barry Mackay of Dayton, Ohio; Earl Buchholz of Piedmont, Calif.; and Chris Crawford of Davis, Calif., also held brief drills.

The Davis Cuppers took a few days holiday here before the opening of the Australian championships Friday.

Members of the team depart Wednesday for Adelaide to begin practice. Capt. Perry Jones already is here laying plans for one of his athletes to take the first Australian title since Dick Savitt won in 1951.

Men Bowlers Aid Dimes Drive Here This Week

The Marion Men's City Bowling Association Monday night opened its March of Dimes bowling tournament.

Bowlers at the Palace and Marion Recreation Centers will be aiding the polio fund when they bowl this week. The tournament is based on pins over average and the kegglers will compete during their regular league sessions. The entry fee is a $1 donation. The winner at each center will be awarded a trophy.

Due to the fact that new leagues formed at the Plaza Lanes have not been operating long enough for averages to be compiled, the event there will be held early in February.

Bluth Holding First Place in Bowling Event

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Ray Bluth of St. Louis, who holds a near-record 1,400-series, blasted the top spot today at the start of the final day in the first qualifying round in the All-Star Bowling Tournament.

The field of 192 men will be chopped in half at the end of tonight's action. After the semifinal Wednesday, the round-robin match-game finals start Thursday.

Bluth was three pins under the tournament record set by Chuck O'Donnell of St. Louis in 1950. Bluth's 1,400 series included games of 187, 221, 267, 222, 246 and 257. His 18-game total is 3,862.

In the women's division Olga Gloor of Norwood Park, Ill., led the 46 qualifiers into the semifinals today and Wednesday. She shot an 802 series Monday to boost her total to 2,413.

The last woman to qualify from the first round was Faye McKenzie of Lemon Grove, Calif. She has a total of 2,171.

Carol Wolaver of Chicago rolled a 238-game Monday, high for the day in the women's division.

In the men's division Jay Eckert of Paramus, N.J., knocked down 276 pins for the high game of the day.

North Carolina State's Cagers Take Top Spot

By The Associated Press
Kentucky's basketball team finally lost a game last week and lost first place in the Associated Press weekly major college ratings as a result.

North Carolina State's Wolf Pack, usually a contender for national honors and winner of the Dixie Classic this season, edged out Kentucky's Wildcats in the poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Wins in Close Vote
It was an extremely close vote with Coach Everett Case's Carolinians getting the edge in first and second place ballots. North Carolina State was rated first by 48 to 130 voters and Kentucky on 85, but in the point totals it was 1,087 to 1,035.

Points are tallied on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc. Voting is based on results through Jan. 10.

N.C. State followed its Dixie Classic triumph with victories over Virginia and Duke last week to run its season record to 11-1. Kentucky, after winning 11 straight, stumbled last week and dropped a 75-66 decision to Vanderbilt, a team with an ordinary record, on the latter's court. That was enough to knock some of the glamor off the Wildcats, although they came back to win decisively from Louisiana State on Saturday.

Retains Third Place
North Carolina (8-1) retained third place with 813 points, topping Kansas State by only nine points. Carolina and N.C. State clash Wednesday at Raleigh in a game which should test the belief of many observers in that area that they should rate one-two in the nation.

Trailing the top four in the rankings this week were Auburn, Cincinnati, Bradley, Michigan State, St. John's and West Virginia.

Auburn and Cincinnati each moved up one place as Michigan State took its second defeat of the season. Bradley jumped two, from ninth to seventh, despite a one-point, double-overtime loss to Cincinnati—maybe because of it.

Northwestern, upset by Indiana's defending Big Ten champions, tumbled from eighth place to eleventh and West Virginia moved up to fill the vacant spot in the top ten.

Top ten teams with first place votes and won - lost records through Saturday, Jan. 10 in parentheses (points on 10-9-8 etc. basis):

1. North Carolina State (48) (11-1) 1087
 2. Kentucky (35) (12-1) 1035
 3. North Carolina (4) (9-1) 813
 4. Kansas State (13) (11-1) 804
 5. Auburn (14) (10-0) 774
 6. Cincinnati (4) (8-2) 685
 7. Bradley (2) (9-1) 382
 8. Michigan State (8-2) 344
 9. St. John's (N.Y.) (10-1) 205
 10. West Virginia (2) (12-3) 193
- The second ten: Northwestern 181; Mississippi State (2) 125; Marquette (1) 87; St. Bonaventure (4) 77; St. Louis (1) 57.

Stolen Car Runs Off Road; Driver Flees in Another

State highway patrolmen searched in vain Monday night for occupants of a stolen car which crashed into a ditch, along Rt. 47, near Waldo.

Officers said the westbound auto careened into a ditch and struck a power pole and fence about 11:20 p.m. three miles southwest of Waldo.

Investigation revealed that the car had been stolen from the Short Ford Inc. used car lot on N. State St. earlier in the day, patrolmen noted. The vehicle was only slightly damaged.

The damaged fence and fence posts were owned by Mrs. Vivian Verity of near Prospect.

Three squad cars reported to the scene to join in the search for the missing subjects after it was verified that the car had been stolen, patrolmen said.

Officers combed the area for three hours without turning up any sign of the driver or the companion believed to be traveling with him.

Patrolmen speculated this morning that the pair may have fled by stealing another car from the west edge of Waldo sometime after 10 p.m. Monday night.

Theft of that car, owned by Dr. Walter D. McCaskey of near Marion, was reported to sheriff's deputies early this morning.

Deputies have alerted law enforcement officials throughout the state to be on the lookout for the car stolen Monday night.

City police reported one minor traffic accident Monday. Damage was less than $100 and details were not reported.

County Commissioners Okay Addition to City

The county commissioners Monday approved a 6.54-acre portion of a proposed 154-acre sixth addition in Fair Park which will be submitted for consideration tonight by City Council.

The portion approved by the commissioners involves the area outside the corporation. It contains 33 lots, one street and parts of three others. The entire proposed addition contains 69 lots.

Submitted by the National Development Corp., the plat was approved last week by the City Planning Commission.

Holy Land Trip Object Of Galion Fund Drive
GALION — Two Galion organizations have launched "Project 18," a fund drive to raise money to send the Rev. and Mrs. Philip E. Auer on a trip to the Holy Land. The city-wide drive was conceived by Miss Margaret Loris, president of the Galion Trouble Clinic, and this week given the backing of the Galion Kiwanis Club of which the Rev. Mr. Auer is a member.

The Kiwanis Club took special interest in the project when Dr. Martin Horowitz contributed $18 to a fund started some time ago, explaining that the 18th letter of the Hebrew alphabet stands for life and wishing a long life for the Auers.

"Here's the answer to your proposal of marriage from the cook, Mr. Dexter!"

Howard Fout Elected To Head Marion Area Humane Society

Howard Fout was elected new president of the Marion County Humane Society Monday at the annual board of directors meeting at Hotel Harding to replace LeRoy Powelson, retiring president.

Re-elected vice president was A. H. Marks, O. W. Ruth was elected treasurer replacing Victor Culp and Frank W. Phillips was re-elected secretary. Mr. Phillips was appointed attorney and agent for the society in November. Other members present were Clyde Ullom, Harold Clark, Robert Cass and Mr. Powelson.

As an economy move the board approved transfer of handling of support payments for children to the clerk of the common pleas court. The payments have been handled by the Humane Society since the beginning of the program in the 1930's and the amount now handled is in excess of $100,000 a year.

It was brought out that the matter was discussed with the county commissioners by Mr. Powelson and Mr. Phillips in mid-November following failure of voters to approve the county operating levy. The plan was proposed in an effort to assist commissioners in reducing expenses and should make effective savings of at least $2,000, according to calculations of the society.

Since the county has paid the society $1,000 a year to help cover expenses of supplies and office help, a $1,000 appropriation for the purpose can now be discontinued. The county will now charge 1 percent "poundage fee" on support payments made through the clerk's office. The Humane Society did not charge "poundage" or fees and since the payments are so large now this will make an additional $1,000 available to the county. It is the board's belief that with the efficient system of procedure in the clerk's office additional help will not be required by the clerk.

Commenting on the financial situation in this county Mr. Phillips said every county department ought to assist the commissioners in making changes toward economy of operation.

He pointed out the essential governmental services now located in the court house such as the courts, treasurer's, auditor's and record's offices should be the last to be reduced. Rather, the first reductions should be made in the "mysteriously bottomless pit" of the welfare department where apparently there is never enough money available, even in good economic times," the attorney explained.

In his 10 years of experience and observation, "it is my opinion a lot of deserving people receive help from the welfare department but that fully 50 per cent of the money is spent in a manner that would not be approved by the voters if they knew the facts," he said.

Allies To Okay Resumption of Geneva Talks

LONDON (AP) — The Western Allies are expected to tell Moscow within the next 48 hours they are willing to resume East-West talks on prevention of surprise attacks — but with politics outlawed.

Diplomatic sources said today that the Allied reply to the Soviet note suggesting resumption of the talks in Geneva Thursday will stress the necessity for confining the renewed discussions to technical questions.

The 10-nation conference on prevention of surprise attack broke down in Geneva Dec. 18 when East and West were unable to agree even on what to talk about.

Negotiators from the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada argued that the talks should be restricted to technical issues.

The Eastern delegates of the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Albania insisted on discussions on the causes of the world's fear of surprise attack.

Diplomats considered it impossible to resume talks by Thursday, as the Soviets proposed in their note delivered last Saturday night.

Tass news agency issued details of the Soviet notes handed to the American, British, French, Italian and Canadian embassies in Moscow Saturday night.

Commenting on the financial situation in this county Mr. Phillips said every county department ought to assist the commissioners in making changes toward economy of operation.

$100 Million Is Recount Gives Governorship In Vermont To GOP Candidate Ike's Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told the new Republican leaders of Congress today his 77 billion dollar budget for the new fiscal year contemplates a surplus of about 100 million dollars.

House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana told newsmen there is hope of a tax reduction in the next two or three years if the heavily Democratic new Congress goes along with Eisenhower's spending and legislative programs.

The President's budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 will go to Congress next Monday. The White House recently announced it would be a balanced budget calling for spending about 77 billion dollars — approximately two billion less than in the current year.

Today, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in reply to a question that Eisenhower informed the GOP congressional delegation the budget actually contemplates a surplus of about 100 million dollars.

In the current fiscal year a deficit of about 12 billion dollars is in prospect. This was Eisenhower's first meeting with the party's congressional chiefs since election of new leaders last week.

In advance of the White House session Dirksen said he expected only a general discussion of the legislative program. He said there was no arrangement to report to Senate Republicans, who have yet to set up their policy committee.

Halleck, who defeated the veteran Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts for the leadership post, headed the House delegation.

Operations of the Toledo Labor Management Citizens Committee will be described to Marion business and labor leaders and other interested persons in a meeting at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the YMCA.

Jerome Gross, director of the Toledo organization, and business, management and labor members of the committee are scheduled to be on hand to speak and answer questions.

Mayor Wendell L. Strong said today that all labor, management and other interested persons in the city area are invited to attend the meeting.

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—It is now official that Republican Robert T. Stafford of Rutland is the governor of Vermont—by the narrowest margin in a Vermont gubernatorial election in 150 years.

A 56-member joint committee of the Legislature completed a recount Monday night showing Stafford beat Democrat Bernard J. Leddy of Burlington by 718 votes, 62,222 to 61,503.

Vermont has not had a Democratic governor in 105 years. In that time no Democrat has come as close to the governorship as did Leddy.

The small margin in the gubernatorial race was the second phase of a Democratic showing in the state. Democrat William J. Meyer was elected to the U. S. House.

The original margin between Stafford and Leddy was 918 votes. Actually, Stafford received only 292 votes more than he needed to win the governorship in the recount. The Vermont constitution requires that a governor be elected with a majority of the ballots cast.

There were 123,859 general election votes counted. The recount committee rejected 131 ballots.

Weatherman Predicts Rain for Marion Area

The mercury climbed to an unseasonably warm 44 Monday, giving rise to thawing conditions that left most of Marion County a damp, soggy mess.

The overnight low was only 26 and by noon today the temperature read 31, with a high of 43 anticipated.

This morning's weather forecast called for cloudy conditions tonight and Wednesday, with the possibility that rain will fall in the county Wednesday night.

Tonight's low is not expected to fall below 30, with a high of perhaps 48 to be experienced Wednesday.

Wants Ring Back

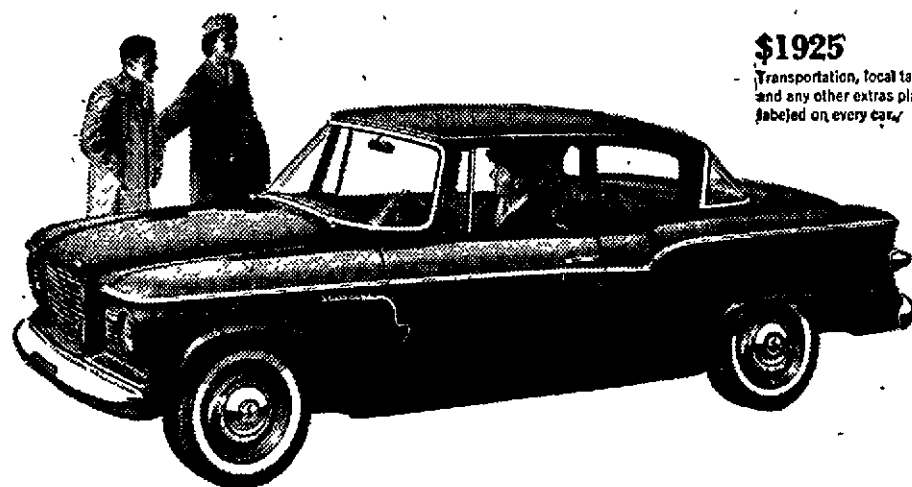

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—It was tough enough when his sweetheart jilted him. But when she kept his diamond ring . . . that was the final jolt.

So Henry Lee, a young school teacher, filed suit today against Antoinette Bryant for return of the ring. Either that or pay the cost of the diamond, $439.78.
